VERY SMALL CROWD AT THE GRAND LAST NIGHT.

A very small audience greeted the Buster Brown company at the new Grand last night. The few who did attend saw a very good performance and received their money's worth. The cast were all clever and the choruses were hard working, if not beautiful. The musical specialties both vocal and instrumental, were as good as ever seen on the one night stands. The male quartette was splendid and had to exhaust their repertoire before the audience were satisfied.

"Buster Brown," as played by Master Rice, was the same in looks as the comic papers represent him, and he and Tige won instant favor. Tige, by the way, was played by Mr. Arthur Hall, who became famous as the cowardly lion in the "Wizard of Oz." Such is fame, however, on the stage. One season the most talked of portrayer of animal parts and the next touring West Virginia to empty seats.

If interested theatregoers would take the trouble to find out about theatrical companies visiting the city they would see the good shows and miss the bad ones. At present the reverse seems to be their fate. On the whole the production of "Buster Brown" last night and the company playing it were far ahead of any previously seen here.

"The Warning Bell" and "The County Chairman," two excellent dramas, are underlined for Friday and Saturday of this week.
